1. This week's lecture: Bearing witness to the Philippine drug wars NEW

Rafael

As part of International Education Week and the NIU Graduate Colloquium Series, University of Washington Southeast Asian history professor Vicente Rafael will present "The Trauma of Witnessing: Photographing the Philippine Drug War Under President Rodrigo Duterte" at noon, Nov. 16 in Campus Life 100. In his talk, Rafael will explore the role of photojournalism as an act of witnessing as much as a style of mourning in Duterte's war on drugs, and in the process the killing of drug addicts, in the Philippines. He addresses the questions: How are trauma and witnessing braided together? How does the aesthetic rendering of death make possible the act of witnessing even as it endangers it? What is the fate of photographic images once rendered into commodities by the global media and put into circulation for consumption by anonymous viewers? In celebration of International Ed Week, CSEAS is providing Thai lunch for all--first come, first served.

2. International Ed Week: Celebrating language, cultures, art and more NEW CSEAS has something on the schedule every day for International Education Week at NIU Nov. 12–16. Thai language instructor Duangkamon Winitkun will be reading Hush! A Thai Lullaby to children at DeKalb Public Library at 6 p.m. Monday. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, CSEAS's Foreign Language Teaching Assistants will set up SEA language tables in DuSable Hall from 11 a.m. to noon. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday (Burmese on Tuesday, Indonesian on Wednesday, and Tagalog on Thursday). As part of her Tagalog table, FLTA Lady Aileen Ambion Orsal will be frying up homemade Filipino eggrolls for $1. Also on Tuesday, CSEAS, the Division of International Affairs, and the DeKalb ELS Center will host Grounds for Celebration, an invitation-only reception for area families who have hosted international exchange students, from 6 to 8 p.m. in Ellington's Café. On Thursday, the Southeast Asia Club is hosting International Culture Fest with campus organizations, language classes and students performing from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in Campus Life 100. There will be dancing lessons, a Burmese puppet dance, a fashion show, and other performances. CSEAS concludes its IEW activities with its Friday brownbag lecture at noon in Campus Life 100 (see item 1 above). Also, a study abroad exhibit featuring photos and stories by NIU students will be on display at the Donn V. Hart Southeast Asia Collection in Founders Library.

Under the watchful eye of Center for Burma Studies Director Catherine Raymond, Carmin Berchiolly cleans a reverse glass painting from Raymond's latest acquisition trip to Myanmar in preparation for an upcoming exhibit at the NIU Art Museum.

3. Splendor in the glass: Exhibit opens, symposium convenes NEW

The Center for Burma Studies opens its exhibition, "Vanishing Art from Myanmar: Buddhist Reverse Glass Painting Traditions," from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday in the NIU Art Museum. The exhibition, which will be on display through Feb. 15, is the lead-off event for the Center for Burma Studies' one-day international symposium on Asian reverse glass painting traditions Friday, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Altgeld 315. The symposium is the culmination of several years of field research by CBS Director Catherine Raymond, who in addition to organizing the symposium will be among the presenters discussing this artistic tradition from Myanmar, China, Indonesia and Cambodia. The symposium will open with remarks will be made by U Aung Lynn, the Burmese ambassador to the U.S., Jerry Blazey, vice president of the Division of Research and Innovation Partnerships, and Paul Kassell, dean of the College of Visual and Performing Arts, and John Siblik, director of the School of Art and Design. Raymond and Jerome Samuel, vice president of the Institut National des Langues et Civilisations Orientales of Paris, will follow with opening remarks after which there will be presentations about reverse glass painting traditions in four countries: Burma/Myanmar, China, Indonesia and Cambodia, For a complete symposium schedule, see the Center for Burma Studies website.

4. Campus notes: Farewells and good words NEW

Gray on her last day at CSEAS with her very own wayang kulit, made by CSEAS associate Art Professor Shei-Chau Wang

CSEAS congratulates Colleen Gray (MA anthropology, 2014), former Administrative Director for the center's Young Southeast Asia Leaders Initiative (YSEALI) program, on her new job as the International Student Recruiter for the College of Lake County in Grayslake, IL. Prior to her last day at CSEAS Oct. 31, Gray spent two and a half weeks traveling to six SEA countries (Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, Laos, Myanmar and Indonesia) for follow-on meetings with some of the 60 YSEALI participants she shepherded through three rounds of the U.S. State Department program between 2015 and 2018. We wish her the very best and look forward to collaborating with the College of Lake County in the future. . . FLAS fellow Sammy Mallow (MA geology) presented his research, "Groundwater and Surface Water Quality of Boeng Cheung Ek Wastewater Treatment Wetland, Phnom Penh, Cambodia," Nov. 5 at the Geological Society of America annual conference in Indianapolis. . . Seen and heard Nov. 9 at the History Graduate Student Association 11th annual conference, "The Borderlands of History": Graduate student Thommy Brown presenting "Shakti, Statecraft, and Sihamouk: Political Spaces and Religious Power in Cambodia, 1955–65" and CSEAS associate Trude Jacobsen (History) in a roundtable faculty discussion about writing and teaching accessible history.

5. Special lecture Nov. 19: U.S. Foreign Service Officer Bergen Bassett NEW

Interested in a diplomatic career? Hear what it's like to work abroad for the U.S. State Department from a U.S. Foreign Service Officer at 5 p.m. Nov. 19 in the Heritage Room in the Holmes Student Center. Bergen Bassett, consular officer with the U.S. Embassy in the Philippines and a Dekalb native, will present "Experiences Abroad: A Career in the Foreign Service and the work of the U.S. Department of State" in the Heritage Room at the Holmes Student Center. She joined ROTC as an NIU student, later transferred to the College of William and Mary where she received her bachelor's degree in government. Commissioned as an Army officer in 2000, she served two years in Iraq as an intelligence officer before joining the Foreign Service. She was the editor of the Joint Chiefs of Staff morning intelligence brief at the Pentagon and also spent time working for the Department of Defense as a government civilian and contractor. In 2012 she earned her MA in European Union Studies from the University of Illinois. A 1993 graduate of DeKalb High School, Bassett credits her interest in international work to her junior year spent in Sweden as a Rotary Youth Exchange student. Her NIU visit is sponsored by the Division of International Affairs and the Zeta Gama chapter of Phi Beta Delta.

6. Special lecture Nov. 20: British Museum's Alexandra Green

Green

Alexandra Green, Henry Ginsburg Curator for Southeast Asia at the British Museum, will present "Image as Information: Materialising the Buddha in Late Burmese Art" at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 20, in Room 111 in the Jack Arends Art Building. Green has most recently published Buddhist Visual Cultures, Rhetoric and Narrative in Late Burmese Wall Paintings (Hong Kong University Press, 2018) and "From Collecting History to Iconography: Southeast Asian Shadow Puppets in the British Museum" in the Journal of the Siam Society. She is currently working on an exhibition about Sir Stamford Raffles' Javanese collections set to open at the British Museum in 2019.

7. New for spring: CIA in the world; regional security in China, SEA

New on the spring SEA course list are two online classes. CSEAS Director Eric Jones reprises his online course, HIST 480/580, Spies, Lies and Secret Wars: CIA in the World, and China's Xiamen University guest professor Xu Ke returns after last summer's on-site short course to teach SEAS 490/690, Regional Security Issues: China and Southeast Asia (also cross-listed as POLS 395). Dr. Xu Ke, associate professor in the School of International Relations at Xiamen, will teach from China for most of the semester with two face-to-face meetings on campus April 25 and May 2.

All five SEA language and literature classes continue: Burmese, Indonesian, Khmer, Tagalog and Thai. The Center's undergraduate SEA survey class, SEAS 225, Southeast Asia: Crossroads of the World (instructor of record Jui-Ching Wang, teaching assistant Azri Agoes), is offered from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in DuSable 148.

Other spring courses include:

10. Applications open: 2019–20 FLAS fellowships

Whether you're applying for a summer 2019 or an academic-year 2019–20 FLAS fellowship, or both, you can apply for a Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) fellowship with one application. The application and all information on both summer and academic-year FLAS awards are posted online. Summer FLAS applications due Jan. 1; deadline for academic-year FLAS is Feb. 1. The U.S. Department of Education's Title VI Program of Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowships funds FLAS fellowships. Summer FLAS fellowships provide for the summer study of Southeast Asian languages at any U.S. Department of Education-approved educational institution, especially those in Southeast Asia, but also including the Southeast Asian Studies Summer Institute at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Questions? Contact Assistant CSEAS Director Jui-Ching Wang at jcwang@niu.edu. What's it like to be a FLAS fellow? See article in the NIU Newsroom.

11. Applications open: Clark and Arlene Neher Graduate Fellowship

U.S. and international graduate students are invited to apply for the Center's 2019–20 Clark and Arlene Neher Graduate Fellowship for the Study of Southeast Asia. The fellowship includes a tuition waiver and a $5,000 annual stipend. To apply, students should be at an advanced stage in their master's or doctoral program, and planning field or archival research in SEA studies. Applicants must also be in good standing with NIU and demonstrate a commitment to career involving SEA Studies. Apply online by Jan. 15; for details, see CSEAS website.

12. Applications open: Dwight Y. King Graduate Scholarship

International students pursuing advanced degrees involving substantial Indonesia research are invited to apply for the 2019–20 Dwight Y. King Graduate Scholarship for the Study of Indonesia. Applicants for this $1,000 award should be a student in good standing and at an advanced stage in their master's or doctoral program. In keeping with King's lifelong commitment to public affairs, preference will be given to students interested in working in developing countries. Application must include a personal statement, research proposal, PDF of graduate transcript and a letter of recommendation. Deadline to apply is Jan. 15.

13. Winning words: Statement of purpose workshop Nov. 29

Applying for graduate school or going for a top scholarship like a Foreign Language and Area Studies fellowship? Learn to put a compelling statement of purpose together from Assistant CSEAS Director Jui-Ching Wang from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Nov. 29 in Room 293, Founders Library. Spend an hour and pick up the tools you need to put together a winning package. For details, contact Wang at jcwang@niu.edu.

14. Indonesian tsunami and earthquake relief—how to help

Indonesian relief groups are mobilizing to deal with the massive destruction and loss of life wrought by earthquakes in Lombok, Bali, in August and earthquakes and a tsunami in Palu, Sulawesi, Sept. 28. If you would like to help, CSEAS has compiled a list of preferred non-governmental organizations accepting donations for relief efforts.

- Indonesian Red Cross: Funds will pay for relief supplies, such as mattresses and baby kits, and vehicles, such as water trucks and heavy equipment.
- CARE: Funds will go toward providing drinking water, shelter and sanitation.
- GlobalGiving: Donations will go toward emergency supplies of food, water and medicine in addition to recovery assistance. Specify Lombok or Palu to find specific donation pathways.
- UNICEF Indonesia: Donations will go toward helping children and families.

15. Module 2 scheduled for distance Burmese class

The second module for Burmese language professor Tharaphi Than's beginning Burmese as a non-credit distance class has been scheduled for Jan. 27 to March 28. Completion of modules 1 and 2 is the equivalent of one-year beginning Burmese taught at NIU. After taking both modules, community college students who intend to transfer to NIU are eligible to apply for Foreign Language and Area Studies fellowships through CSEAS. For details, contact Than at tthan@niu.edu or CSEAS at cseas@niu.edu.

16. Apply online for graduate conference travel

The Graduate School is inviting degree-seeking graduate students in good academic standing to submit travel grant proposals for the 2018–19 academic year. Students invited to present results of their original research or creative activity at a professional may submit a proposal for matching funding through their department to the Graduate School; students must secure $200 to $500 in department or college funding in order to secure the matching funds from the Graduate School. Apply online by any of three rolling deadlines (Jan. 15 and March 15). Apply online.

17. Burnish your resumé with Southeast Asian Studies

Add a Southeast Asian Studies minor to a bachelor's degree or a graduate certificate to an advanced degree and pull your resumé to the top of the pile. Visit the CSEAS website or stop by CSEAS at 520

College View Court. Undergraduates should contact adviser Colleen Gray at cgray3@niu.edu; graduate students should contact Assistant Director Jui-Ching Wang at jcwang@niu.edu.
