1. This week’s lecture: Thailand past and present

CSEAS alumnus John Brandon (MA political science, 1985), senior director of the Washington, DC-based Asia Foundation, will present “Thailand Past and Present” at noon Friday, Oct. 12, in Campus Life 100. Brandon discusses the outlook for Thailand in light of its increasingly strained relations with the U.S. since the 2014 coup, its increasing engagement with China and its strategic interest in stronger integration of the Southeast Asia economic region. To order a Southeast Asian lunch, submit an online request by 6 p.m. Thursday at CSEAS Brown Bag Order. To cancel an order, you must do so online by 10 a.m. Friday. Cost is $5 for students and $7 for faculty, staff and others. Payments may be made in cash or by check. E-mail cseasbrownbag@gmail.com for details. The Southeast Asia Club is also selling Thai iced tea this week ($2 a glass).

2. Deadlines approach for NIU research grants for undergrads

Got an undergraduate research project you want to pursue? NIU’s Office of Student Engagement and Experiential Learning (OSEEL) has several opportunities to fund student-generated research projects on or off campus, including overseas. Deadline to apply for these grants: Ranges from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15. See the OSEEL website.

3. Students invited to apply for advanced Thai language scholarships

Advanced Thai language students (beyond first-year Thai) are invited to apply for two 2018–19 scholarships from the Thai Teaching and Research Endowment Fund through the NIU Foundation. The $2,000 scholarship is disbursed $1,000 per semester. Eligible students should be pursuing study of Thai language, culture, history or politics, have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher, and demonstrate a focus on the study of Thailand. Deadline to apply: Oct. 15. Applicants should submit a one-page statement of interest, a letter from their Thai language professor, a letter of recommendation and a copy of their transcript electronically to Thai language professor Kanjana Thepboriruk at kanjana@niu.edu. The Royal Thai government established the endowment to support Thai teaching and research initiatives at NIU.

4. COTS 2018 at UW-Madison this weekend

The Council on Thai Studies has released its draft schedule for its upcoming annual meeting Oct. 12–14 in Ingraham Hall at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. The conference opens at noon Friday, Oct. 12, with the keynote lecture by Puangthong Pawakapan (Chulalongkorn University and the Harvard-Yenching Institute), who will present “Development and Impact of the Thai Military’s Political Offensive.” Afternoon panel topics are Capital and Regulation and Resistance and Difference Across Language and Margins. The evening panels are Military, Democracy and the Place of Politics and The Cold War: Secrets, Spirits and Kings. Saturday’s program begins at 9 a.m. with the panel Queering Gender: Media, Society and History, followed by panels on Space and Politics in Northern Thailand; Military Dictatorship, Promised Elections and the Future of Democracy; the Construction and Reproduction of Nationalism; and Religious Devotion, Repression and Re-imagination. An optional brunch will close out the conference on Sunday. For details, email conference organizer Tyrell Haberkorn at tyrrell.haberkorn@wisc.edu.
5. Special lecture Oct. 29: Angkor Wat archaeologist Darith Ea

One of Cambodia’s leading archaeologists and expert on Angkor Wat will be on campus Monday, Oct. 29. Dr. Darith Ea will present “Koh Ker: The 10th Century Angkorian Capital City of Jayavarman IV and His Son, Harshavarman II” from noon to 1 p.m. in Campus Life 100. Jayavarman IV moved the Angkorian capital to Koh Ker, approximately 55 miles from Angkor in the early to mid-900s CE. New work at the site reveals that the city was occupied for the next five centuries. Dr. Ea, a visiting fellow at Cornell University this year, will discuss his work at this important archaeological site in his lecture.

6. Special lecture Nov. 20: British Museum’s Alexandra Green

Dr. Alexandra Green, Henry Ginsburg Curator for Southeast Asia at the British Museum, will present “Image as Information: Materialising the Buddha in Late Burmese Art” at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 20, in Room 111 in the Jack Arends Art Building. Green has most recently published Buddhist Visual Cultures, Rhetoric and Narrative in Late Burmese Wall Paintings (Hong Kong University Press, 2018) and “From Collecting History to Iconography: Southeast Asian Shadow Puppets in the British Museum” in the Journal of the Siam Society. She is currently working on an exhibition about Sir Stamford Raffles’ Javanese collections that will open at the British Museum in 2019.

7. Two FLAS opportunities, two deadlines, one application

Whether you’re applying for a summer 2019 or an academic-year 2019–20 FLAS fellowship, or both, you can apply for a Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) fellowship with one application. The soon-to-be posted application and all information on both summer and academic-year FLAS awards are posted online. Summer FLAS applications will be due Jan. 1; the deadline for the academic-year FLAS is Feb. 1. The U.S. Department of Education’s Title VI Program of Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowships funds FLAS fellowships. Summer FLAS fellowships provide for the summer study of Southeast Asian languages at any U.S. Department of Education-approved educational institution, especially those in Southeast Asia, but also including the Southeast Asian Studies Summer Institute at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Questions? Contact Assistant CSEAS Director Jui-Ching Wang at jcwang@niu.edu.

8. Module 2 scheduled for distance Burmese class

The second module for Burmese language professor Tharaphi Than’s beginning Burmese as a non-credit distance class has been scheduled for Jan. 27 to March 28. Completion of modules 1 and 2 is the equivalent of one-year beginning Burmese taught at NIU. After taking both modules, community college students who intend to transfer to NIU, are eligible to apply for Foreign Language and Area Studies fellowships through CSEAS. For details, contact Than at tthan@niu.edu or CSEAS at cseas@niu.edu.

9. Save the dates: Internship/job fair, East Timor, STEMfest

Nov. 1: “Unmasked: Facing the Imposter Syndrome,” 5 to 7 p.m., Holmes Student Center. Jobs PLUS event: registration required.

Nov. 12–16: International Education Week.

Nov. 15: International Culture Fest, 6:30 p.m., Campus Life Building.

Nov. 26: Gamelan open house, 102 Music Building.

10. Southeast Asia Crossroads: Check out our newest podcast

CSEAS is marking nearly 9,000 listens of our Southeast Asia Crossroads podcast series since its debut in September 2016. In our latest conversation, host Eric Jones discusses “Studying Myanmar through Food: Challenging Paradigms and Connecting Universities with Communities” with historian and NIU Burmese language professor Tharaphi Than. Than discusses her work with the Humanities Across Borders project: Food as a Lens for Cultural and Historical Studies. Our following keeps growing around the world with listeners in 70 countries as we cover topics from history and politics to art and culture.

11. Apply online for graduate conference travel

The Graduate School is inviting degree-seeking graduate students in good academic standing to submit travel grant proposals for the 2018–19 academic year. Students invited to present results of their original research or creative activity at a professional may submit a proposal for matching funding through their department to the Graduate School; students must secure $200 to $500 in department or college funding in order to secure the matching funds from the Graduate School. Apply online by any of three rolling deadlines (Oct. 15, Jan. 15 and March 15). Apply online.

12. Burnish your resumé with Southeast Asian Studies

Add a Southeast Asian Studies minor to a bachelor’s degree or a graduate certificate to an advanced degree and pull your resumé to the top of the pile. Visit the CSEAS website or stop by CSEAS at 520 College View Court. Undergraduates should contact adviser Colleen Gray at cgray3@niu.edu; graduate students should contact Assistant Director Jui-Ching Wang at jcwang@niu.edu.

13. Looking for a few good SEA manuscripts
